

Pooled income fund

This common trust fund is established and maintained by a charitable organization to receive contributions from many individual donors. The donors to the fund retain an income interest in the fund for their lifetimes. The payout to income beneficiaries is determined by the interest and dividends earned by the fund each year.

Please consult your tax specialist or an attorney on the above information.